

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to multimedia communication between end systems
5 in IP environments and more particularly it relates to the problem that all services concerning processing of media streams are bundled.

The solution, according to the invention is a communications system in which a service is publicly available by any end system via a published Uniform Resource Identifier (URI).

10

Publ. Fig. 1

PUBLICATION FEE PAID